| 107TH YEAR |

ISSUE 193

Julie K. Rubini is a children's book author, founder of Claire's Day, wife and mom. She will share her family's choice to live fully following the loss of their daughter.

Julie and her husband Brad (Rotary Club of Toledo Past President) established Claire's Day, a children's book festival in honor of their daughter. A highlight of the festival is the C.A.R.E. Awards, given to children selected as the most improved readers in their schools.

Julie and her family, including daughter, Kyle and son Ian have traveled extensively together, including all fifty states and several continents.

Julie is the recipient of the Toledo Area Jefferson Award (2015), YWCA Milestones Award (2016) and the University of Toledo Distinguished Alumni (2015).

Dr. Wayne Dornan is a male breast cancer survivor. He spoke about his disbelief and embarrassment of finding out that he was diagnosed with breast cancer. At his first chemo appointment, he made the decision that he would not be embarrassed by having breast cancer, he would not let cancer define him, he was going to fight to spread the word to both men and women about breast cancer. As Dr. Dornan traveled through his cancer journey, he found that the research on breast cancer was all conducted on women. Through his surgeon's support and connections with Susan G. Komen, he has been able to assist in increasing the research for breast cancer in men.
